EPCC theater online

The El Paso Community College (EPCC) Disciplines of Theatre Arts and Mass Communication proudly present Eugene O'Neill's one-act play THIRST. The production can be viewed online at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dpZKCyPHxk>. The plot of THIRST is three people are trapped on a raft in the middle of the ocean after the ship they were on sinks. A Gentleman, a Dancer, and a West Indian Mulatto Sailor are adrift without food and water far off the normal shipping lanes, surrounded by sharks and slowly going mad. Rodriguez gets second term

Last week the National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials (NALEO) elected Armando Rodriguez to a second, three-year term, on its Board of Directors to conclude in June 2023. Rodriguez was unanimously elected to serve an initial three-year term on the NALEO Board in 2017. NALEO Educational Fund is a leading non-profit, non-partisan organization that facilitates full Latino participation in the American political process, from citizenship to public service. "To be effective advocates for our community, the leadership of this organization continues to empower the Latino community and create opportunities for kids," Rodriguez said. "We address the complex issues facing our community and influence legislation that affects student outcomes." A graduate of Canutillo High School and the University of Texas at El Paso, Rodriguez is a native of the Border and a leader in his community. His work on behalf of students extends beyond El Paso. Earlier this month, Rodriguez was nominated to serve as Secretary/Treasurer of the Texas Association of School Boards (TASB), a nonprofit association that serves local public school boards to become the first trustee from Region 19 to serve as an officer on the TASB Board of Directors since 1998.

Elks provide high school seniors scholarship opportunities

By Alfredo Vasquez
Special to the Courier

Through its Elks National Foundation (ENF), the charitable arm of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the more than 750,000-member organization is providing charitable services that help build stronger communities across the United States.

Elks members, from their 1,900 lodges throughout the country, assert that they joined the Elks to help build stronger communities through programs that support youth, serve veterans, and meet needs in areas where Elks members live and work.

One of the organization's many successful programs is the Most Valuable Student (MVS) scholarship contest which is held every year. The MVS contest is currently taking applications for the 2020-21 scholarships.

According to local Elks Lodge 187 member Teddy Martinez, the ENF is investing $4.2 million in college scholarships this year. "We are investing wisely," she stated. She pointed out that MVS scholars- all of whom demonstrate outstanding leadership skills and a commitment to service- are graduating from college at a rate of 90 percent, which is more than 30 percent higher than the national average.

Martinez stated that for the upcoming school year, ENF will select 500 national winners by next spring. The top 20 finalists will be invited to participate in the Elks Leadership Weekend conference that is scheduled for April in Chicago. While there, the finalists will interview for the scholarship awards that range from $20,000 to $50,000.

These 20 finalists will be vying for two first-place awards of $50,000; two second-place awards of $40,000; and two third-place awards of $30,000. The remaining 14 finalists will receive awards of $20,000. Each of the remaining 480 runners-up participants will receive a $4,000 scholarship.

The MVS scholarship is available to high school seniors who are United States citizens.

Applicants are judged on academics, leadership, community service, and financial need, Martinez explained. And, applicants do not need to be related to a member of the Elks, she added.

Since 1931, the ENF program has awarded life-changing scholarships to thousands of students, like Santiago Alvillar of California, who is last year's top winner. Alvillar acknowledged that excelling in academics became an outlet for him. He stated that he is the first in his family to receive a formal education and that now he is using his studies to create a future that includes greater opportunities for those he cares about. Alvillar will begin college life this fall as a freshman at Stanford University, where he plans to study engineering and physics, with a specialty in energy alternatives.

In the El Paso region, Elks Lodge 187 has been instrumental in helping local high school seniors win scholarships in recent years. Leonardo Moraveg, an Eastwood High School graduate, was awarded a $4,000 scholarship in 2018; and Regina Sung, a Clint Early College High School graduate, received a $20,000 scholarship in 2019. Six other local area high school seniors in the past eight years have also been awarded scholarships through the Elks MVS scholarship program, Martinez related.

Martinez urged all area high school seniors to apply. "For sure, you cannot get a scholarship if you do not apply," she said, "but maybe, just maybe, you could be a recipient if you do apply."

Applications for the 2020-21 contest are available on the ENF's website. Complete MVS scholarship contest details including the application may be viewed, at elks.org/scholars or at elks.org/MVS. The application process must be completed online and submitted by November 15.

For more information about Elks Lodge 187 and the scholarship application process, contact Teddy Martinez, at (915) 503-3067, or send email to liliamartinez48@hotmail.com. Individuals may contact the El Paso Lodge 187 office at elpaso187@gmail.com or at (915) 532-4441.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING TO DISCUSS PROPOSED TAX RATE

DUE TO HEALTH AND SAFETY CONCERNS RELATED TO THE COVID-19 CORONAVIRUS, the San Elizario Independent School District will hold a virtual public meeting at 5:30 PM on Wednesday, September 9, 2020. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss the school district’s tax rate that will be adopted. Public participation in the discussion is invited.

Event address for attendees:

Proposed Rate per $100 Value	$ 1.146100	$ 1.170000
Taxes Due on Average Residence	$ 539.74	$ 582.62
Increase (Decrease) in Taxes		$ 42.88

Under state law, the dollar amount of school taxes imposed on the residence homestead of a person 65 years of age or older or of the surviving spouse of such a person, if the surviving spouse was 55 years of age or older when the person died, may not be increased above the amount paid in the first year after the person turned 65, regardless of changes in the tax rate or property value.

Notice of Rollback Rate: The highest tax rate the district can adopt before requiring voter approval at an election is 1.180600. This election will be automatically held if the district adopts a rate in excess of the rollback rate of 1.180600.

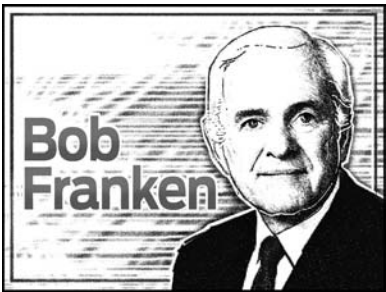

Fund Balances

The following estimated balances will remain at the end of the current fiscal year and are not encumbered with or by a corresponding debt obligation, less estimated funds necessary for operating the district before receipt of the first state aid payment:

Maintenance and Operations Fund Balance(s)	$ 10,941,681
Interest & Sinking Fund Balance(s)	$ 446,259

Smear campaign begins

“Phony Kamala and Slow Joe.” That was President Trump giving nicknames to the opposition after Joe Biden picked Kamala Harris to share the Democratic ticket with him. Of course, Trump threw in “extraordinarily nasty,” but he always describes those who oppose him as “extraordinarily nasty.” A couple of days later, he tried to hint that Kamala Harris was not eligible to be vice president, a sad reprise of the “birther” campaign he led against Barack Obama. How pathetic.

I have to ask: Is that the best Trump can do? Has he lost a step in attaching insulting nicknames and leveling racist dog whistles against anyone who riles him, which is just about everyone? “Phony” and “slow” are hardly devastating. “Nasty” seems puny. “Birther”? Been there done that. Is the Trumpster still feeling the after-effects of the hydroxychloroquine pills that he popped?

Trump had better get on his game, because in Harris, Biden has picked someone who might give him a bit of reflected pizazz that’s badly needed. Donald Trump just has Mike Pence, who is not a pizazz kinda guy. Or we think Pence will be his choice.

And both Joe Biden and Kamala Harris made it clear at their first campaign appearance together they were intending to make the current incumbents their main issue, particularly the handling of the pandemic. They will describe him as a president who is really an empty suit, who generates lawsuits every time he pulls another of his con jobs. Quoth Harris: “This is what happens when we elect a guy who just isn’t up to the job.”

So it is with his power grab from Congress. His administration negotiators refused to budge from their lowball position when it came to extending the unemployment benefits lifeline to those devastated economically by the coronavirus. This time, he was conjuring up a bunch of phony executive orders and memoranda that pretended to solve many of the critical issues.

Take enhanced unemployment payments and eviction prohibitions. He announced that unemployment was $400, down from $600. It’s actually $300, much of it paid for by budgetary sleight of hand, which will be challenged in court. As for the stoppage of evictions, as he announced, it’s really just a memo to federal agencies to “study” the issue.

Most of it is a mirage, but he is counting on some of the voters to be taken in by his subterfuge. Besides, Congress has the authority, according to the Constitution, to control spending. But Trump has never been a big fan of the Constitution and its limitations.

One of the most intriguing aspects of the Kamala Harris selection is that the opposition

Post office paranoia

At this rate, Postmaster General Louis DeJoy will be lucky if he isn't arrested and tried for treason before a people's tribunal.

According to House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, DeJoy is a "complicit crony" aiding Trump's efforts to sabotage American democracy. She believes the two have hatched a plot to delay mail-in voting and disenfranchise countless Americans prior to the election.

In tried-and-true fashion, President Trump has stoked suspicions by saying that he opposes a $25 billion Postal Service bailout in the latest Democratic COVID-19 relief bill. According to Trump, blocking this measure – and $3 billion in election aid to the states – will prevent universal mail-in voting. But the bailout doesn't have anything to do with mail-in voting, and given the billions of pieces of mail handled by the post office every week, it surely can handle the increased volume from mail-in voting.

It is true that Postmaster General DeJoy is a major Trump donor. He made his fortune in shipping and logistics, though, and he was selected by the Postal Service's board of governors.

Little did he know, when he took over the agency in June, that he'd soon have a starring role in the country's latest psychodrama. Every change at the Postal Service is now seen through the prism of a belief that the agency is a tool of creeping authoritarianism.

Letter collection boxes are being removed – never mind that this has been an ongoing process for years. Underutilized boxes are decommissioned or moved to higher-traffic areas. In 2009, the Washington Post reported that 200,000 boxes had been shelved over the past two decades. In 2016, the inspector general noted that another 12,000 collection boxes had been cut over the previous five years.

Letter collection boxes all of a sudden have big, red locks on them – well, yeah, as an off-hours device to prevent the theft of mail, also something the Postal Service has done for years.

The Postal Service is deactivating mail-sorting machines – right, and there was a plan for this prior to DeJoy becoming postmaster general, and it has long been discussed in response to the declining volume of mail.

DeJoy is cutting back on overtime – indeed he is, because artificially swollen overtime is an enormous expense that he hopes to eliminate with a more rational delivery system.

Democrats and much of the media make it sound as though the post office was an efficient, smooth-running agency before DeJoy took charge. In reality, the post office has lost nearly $80 billion since 2007, and it lost more than $2 billion last quarter. Unless the service finds a way to innovate, it is headed for bankruptcy.

This is the impetus for DeJoy's reforms, which should be welcomed by all the people now caterwauling about how essential the post office is to the American way of life.

DeJoy has been adamant that the Postal Service will do its job regarding mail-in ballots. The post office's recent warnings to states that they should be mindful of how quickly ballots can be delivered were intended to avoid unrealistically late deadlines for mail-in voting that could create a train wreck in November.

But in their inflamed state, Democrats want a villain. If not a foreign potentate, then the guy in charge of delivering the mail.

The new population control: Fear and isolation

Planet of the Humans, a Michael Moore vehicle, came and went with little fanfare. Perhaps it was the message that our feeble attempts at halting climate change were just that: feeble and useless. Solar panels, wind turbines, electric cars and the like were criticized as mere "band-aids" and corporate moneymakers that leave a larger human footprint on Gaia. In truth, the sole savior of the Earth is controlling the root of energy consumption: our population.

Mother Earth aside, Margaret Sanger and her eugenicist friends tried to control population by cruel design in the early 1900s. She opposed philanthropy as it perpetuated "human waste." To achieve world peace, Sanger proposed that "the whole dysgenic population [including epileptics, feeble-minded, prostitutes] would have its choice of segregation or sterilization."

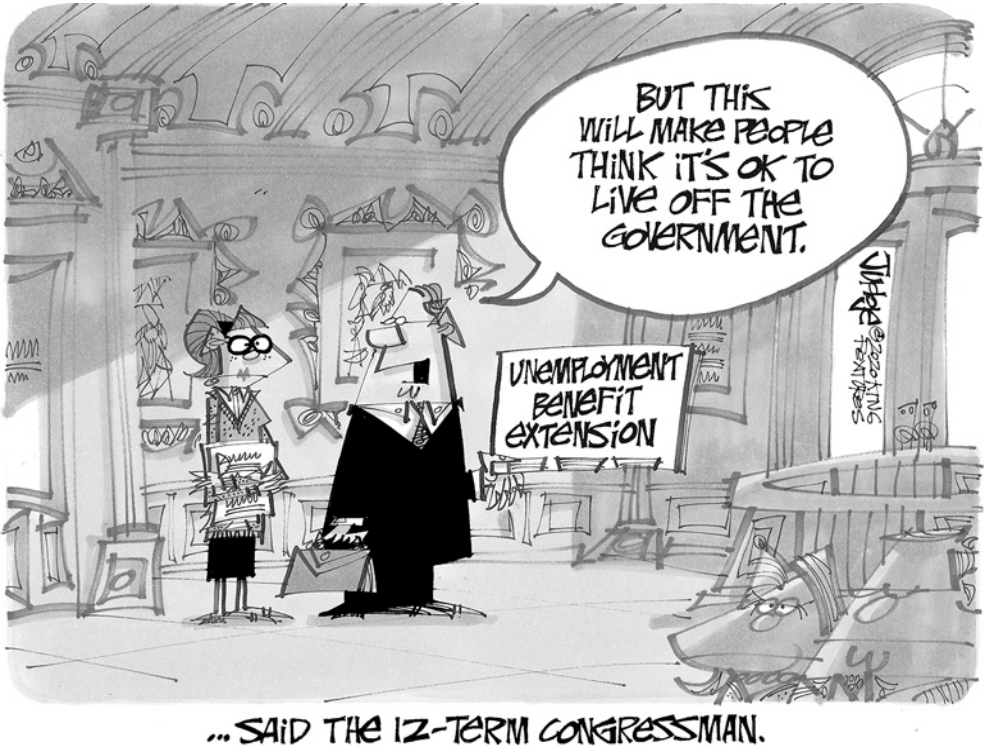

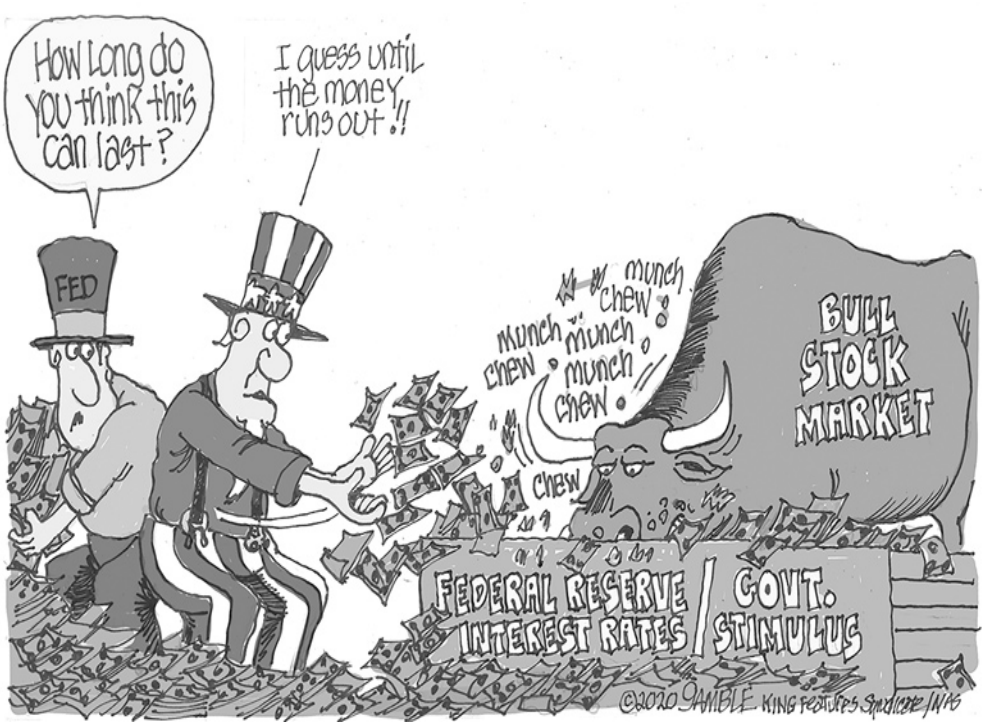

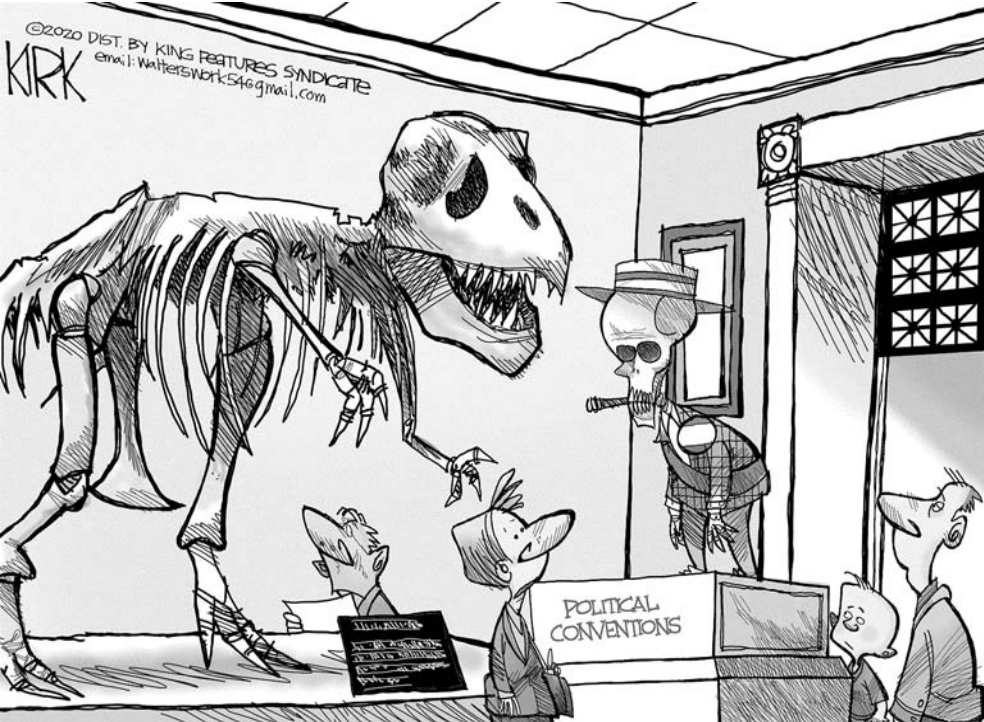

Government-sponsored forced sterilizations became too much for civilized society to bear and ceased in 1981. Margaret Sanger's legacy soldiers on, conducting "God's work" at Planned Parenthood abortion clinics disproportionately located in minority neighborhoods. Taking it up a notch, pediatrician Governor Ralph Northam (D-Va.), who while in medical school wore either black face or a KKK hood – he doesn't remember which – grotesquely believes it's OK to kill babies who are born alive.

The new standard bearer for the current brand of population control is fear. Dressed as the Angel of Death, he appears on CNN as an ever-present sidebar flashing numbers of COVID-19 "cases," rarely making the distinction between those who are ill and those who simply had a positive test for SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19.

We are never told that 81 percent of cases are mild. Nor are we told that well over 99 percent of Americans have recovered. We were never told that the military ships dispatched to accept patients served a handful of patients. We were not told that

El Paso County Tornillo Water Improvement District, P.O. Box 136, Tornillo, Texas 79853, has applied to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for a renewal of Texas Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (TPDES) Permit No. WQ0014529001 which authorizes the discharge of treated domestic wastewater at a daily average flow not to exceed 730,000 gallons per day. TCEQ received this application on March 6, 2020.

The facility is located at 695 Henderson Road, Tornillo, in El Paso County, Texas 79853. The treated effluent is discharged to Tornillo Drain, thence to Rio Grande Below Riverside Diversion Dam in Segment No. 2307 of the Rio Grande Basin. The unclassified receiving water use is minimal aquatic life use for Tornillo Drain. The designated uses for Segment No. 2307 are primary contact recreation, public water supply, and high aquatic life use. All determinations are preliminary and subject to additional review and/or revisions. This link to an electronic map of the site or facility's general location is provided as a public courtesy and is not part of the application or notice. For the exact location, refer to the application: <https://tceq.maps.arcgis.com/apps/webappviewer/index.html?id=b5bac44afbc468bbddd360f8168250f&marker=-106.105421%2C31.43454&level=12>

The TCEQ Executive Director has completed the technical review of the application and prepared a draft permit. The draft permit, if approved, would establish the conditions under which the facility must operate. The Executive Director has made a preliminary decision that this permit, if issued, meets all statutory and regulatory requirements. The permit application, Executive Director's preliminary decision, and draft permit are available for viewing and copying at The El Paso County Tornillo Water Improvement District business office, 19225 Highland Street, Tornillo, Texas.

PUBLIC COMMENT / PUBLIC MEETING. You may submit public comments or request a public meeting about this application. The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or to ask questions about the application. TCEQ holds a public meeting if the Executive Director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing. OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING. After the deadline for submitting public comments, the Executive Director will consider all timely comments and prepare a response to all relevant and significant public comments. Unless the application is directly referred for a contested case hearing, the response to comments will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments and to those persons who are on the mailing list for this application. If comments are received, the mailing will also provide instructions for requesting a contested case hearing or reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in a state district court.

TO REQUEST A CONTESTED CASE HEARING, YOU MUST INCLUDE THE FOLLOWING ITEMS IN YOUR REQUEST: your name, address, phone number; applicant's name and proposed permit number; the location and distance of your property/activities relative to the proposed facility; a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the facility in a way not common to the general public; a list of all disputed issues of fact that you submit during the comment period; and the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing." If the request for contested case hearing is filed on behalf of a group or association, the request must designate the group's representative for receiving future correspondence; identify by name and physical address an individual member of the group who would be adversely affected by the proposed facility or activity; provide the information discussed above regarding the affected member's location and distance from the facility or activity;

explain how and why the member would be affected; and explain how the interests the group seeks to protect are relevant to the group's purpose.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the Executive Director will forward the application and any requests for reconsideration or for a contested case hearing to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

The Commission may only grant a request for a contested case hearing on issues the requestor submitted in their timely comments that were not subsequently withdrawn. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact or mixed questions of fact and law relating to relevant and material water quality concerns submitted during the comment period. TCEQ may act on an application to renew a permit for discharge of wastewater without providing an opportunity for a contested case hearing if certain criteria are met.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ACTION. The Executive Director may issue final approval of the application unless a timely contested case hearing request or request for reconsideration is filed. If a timely hearing request or request for reconsideration is filed, the Executive Director will not issue final approval of the permit and will forward the application and request to the TCEQ Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting.

MAILING LIST. If you submit public comments, a request for a contested case hearing or a reconsideration of the Executive Director's decision, you will be added to the mailing list for this specific application to receive future public notices mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk. In addition, you may request to be placed on: (1) the permanent mailing list for a specific applicant name and permit number; and/or (2) the mailing list for a specific county. If you wish to be placed on the permanent and/or the county mailing list, clearly specify which list(s) and send your request to TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. All written public comments and public meeting requests must be submitted to the Office of the Chief Clerk, MC 105, Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, TX 78711-3087 or electronically at www14.tceq.texas.gov/epic/eComment/ within 30 days from the date of newspaper publication of this notice.

INFORMATION AVAILABLE ONLINE. For details about the status of the application, visit the Commissioners' Integrated Database at www.tceq.texas.gov/goto/cid. Search the database using the permit number for this application, which is provided at the top of this notice.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION. Public comments and requests must be submitted either electronically at www14.tceq.texas.gov/epic/eComment/, or in writing to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. Any personal information you submit to the TCEQ will become part of the agency's record; this includes email addresses. For more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call the TCEQ Public Education Program, Toll Free, at 1-800-687-4040 or visit their website at www.tceq.texas.gov/goto/pep. Paseo del Este Municipal Utility District No. 11 of El Paso County

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Rate

The Paseo Del Este Municipal Utility District No. 11 of El Paso County will hold a public hearing on a proposed tax rate for the tax year 2020 on Thursday, September 10, 2020, at 11: 30 a.m. solely by means of using a toll-free conference number 1 (888) 599-1357; Access Code: 8529 and via Zoom videoconference Meeting ID: 857 8155 3140; Passcode: 019202 due to the existence of an emergency related to the coronavirus epidemic making the convening of an in-person meeting at one location of a quorum of the Board of Directors difficult or impossible. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the tax rate that is adopted and on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property. The change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in the taxable value of all other property determines the distribution of the tax burden among all property owners.

NOTICE OF TAXPAYERS’ RIGHT TO ELECTION TO REDUCE TAX RATE

If the district adopts a combined debt service, operation and maintenance, and contract tax rate that would result in the taxes on the average residence homestead increasing by more than eight percent, the qualified voters of the district by petition may require that an election be held to determine whether to reduce the operation and maintenance tax rate to the voter-approval tax rate under Section 49.23603, Water Code.

The 86th Texas Legislature modified the manner in which the voter-approval tax rate is calculated to limit the rate of growth of property taxes in the state.

UTEP football season means more than just football

By Steve Escajeda
Special to the Courier

Believe it or not, the UTEP football season is just over a week away.

Yes, you heard me correctly, there may be a dim light flickering at the end of this six-month-long tunnel.

And against all odds it appears as if the Miners are really going to play an entire football season, well they’re scheduled to play all 12 games anyway.

It was nearly six months ago that the women’s basketball program shut things down in the middle of the Conference USA Tournament. The remaining spring sports calendar was cancelled and all looked lost as far as fall sports as well.

But after all the mask wearing and all the social distancing and all the toilet paper-hand sanitizer-coin-and Dr. Pepper shortages, college football fans will have their chance to flock to the Sun Bowl after all.

After losing three games from the original schedule against Texas Tech, Nevada and New Mexico State, the Miners were able to schedule substitutes Stephen F. Austin and Abilene Christian for Sun Bowl appearances.

And at least at the time I’m writing this, the talk is that Louisiana-Monroe may be the road team UTEP schedules for its twelfth game.

All this positive news comes at a time when El Pasoans really need it. Like the rest of the country, local citizens are sick and tired of being cooped up at home unable to do the simple things we all took for granted just six months ago.

Going out to eat, going to the movies, going out for a drink, going to the mall, going almost anywhere has turned into a go-in, get-out, stay-away, don’t-touch kind of obstacle course we maneuver through every day.

But the fact that UTEP will play a football game on September 5 will begin to remind us of what normal used to be.

Suddenly, it really doesn’t matter whether the Miners win or lose. It doesn’t matter who they play and it doesn’t even matter if they are just as terrible as the 2-34 record they’ve compiled over the last three years.

All that matters is that they are playing Stephen F. Austin, they are playing in the Sun Bowl, and they will be playing in front of fans.

It has been determined, unless anything changes, that the capacity for the home opener will be around 10,000 to 15,000 fans.

Even if you don’t include the last year’s season-opener, the Miners averaged about 13,500 fans over the last five games.

Of course fans will have to wear masks and social distance.

According to UTEP Athletics Director Jim Senter, tailgating should be limited to groups of no more than 10 people.

Control

the death statistics include people with “presumed” COVID-19 or who died of other causes but coincidentally had a positive test. Never are we told that sadly 42 percent of American deaths were nursing home residents who make up only 0.6 percent of our population. Nor are we told that 90 percent of hospitalized patients have underlying health conditions and 80 percent of deaths are in those over 65 years. Most importantly, we are not told that deaths and hospitalizations are decreasing.

Meanwhile, in an attempt to undermine our rays of hope, politicians are rewriting history. The woman who plans to be President irresponsibly asserted that Obama-Biden deftly handled the “Ebola pandemic.” Pandemic? Unlike the highly contagious COVID-19, Ebola virus disease was an outbreak centered in West Africa caused by a virus that was only spread through exchange of bodily fluids. The U.S. had 11 Ebola cases, 9 of whom were evacuees from, or contracted Ebola in other countries. The 2 people who contracted Limiting tailgates to 10 people may put a damper on some of the fun, but 10 people sure beats zero anytime.

Everything surrounding the game will be limited. But after months and months of hearing the word “no” over and over, it’s an unbelievable relief to hear “yes,” we are going to have a season – and fans are invited.

Maybe the biggest relief the UTEP athletic department is feeling right now is that their second game of the season, a road game in Austin against the Texas Longhorns, is still going to be played.

The Longhorns’ conference, the Big 12, decided not to follow the Big 10 and the Pac 12’s choice to suspend their football seasons.

With UTEP athletics not exactly rolling in dough, the $1.4 million the Miners will receive for the game couldn’t come any sooner.

Sure the Miners will probably get pummeled in the game, but their bank account will emerge victorious. And right now that may be the most important outcome.

For those who go to the Sun Bowl this season, or listen on the radio, or watch on TV, or read about on their favorite social media platform, the experience will be more of a state of mind.

It’ll be a small window which opens to the things we thought we’d never lose.

And now we see how quickly our comfort, our stability, our rights and our livelihoods can be taken away.

A football game isn’t life. A football game isn’t death.

But this football game represents hope that the world as we knew it – is slowly coming back.

Ebola in the U.S. were the Ebola patients’ nurses – both of whom recovered. And at the time, infection control experts criticized the “lax” federal Ebola guidelines.

The misery campaign worked. In a few short months we have gone from level-headed folks dealing with the vagaries of life to house arrestees acquiescing to ever-changing restrictions, privacy intrusions, and punishments for noncompliance. Isolation has consequences. Verifiable domestic violence has doubled. Forty-one percent of thousands of adults surveyed by the CDC in June 2020 reported an “adverse mental or behavioral health condition,” including 10.7 percent seriously considering suicide. One study predicted 34,000 U.S. cancer deaths due to delayed diagnosis. Unscientific lockdowns are on pace to kill more people than the Devil’s spawn, COVID-19.

The suggestion that we accept this stygian existence until a vaccine is available is magical thinking. Recently, genomic researchers reported 73 variants of the SARS-CoV-2 virus. Variants and mutations could present a challenge for developing an effective vaccine.

Viruses will always be part of our environment. Exploring all possible treatment options, including building our general immunity, is crucial to saving lives. Hydroxychloroquine is one such option that is effective in many patients if given early. Yet the pot-smoking President wannabe labelled our teetotaling President a “drug pusher” for speaking positively about hydroxychloroquine. And the infectious disease expert and cardiologist Bill Gates claims its side effects are severe. The President is in good company with Yale Professor Harvey Risch, MD, physician researchers, and well-respected clinicians regarding hydroxychloroquine’s overall and cardiac safety.

Our scientists and physicians are working hard to preserve our population. If we are allowed out of our cocoons, enough people might develop permanent population (“herd”) immunity to SARS-CoV-2 and the transmission of the virus could burn out.

Fear and agenda-driven political manipulation are drowning out the facts. We may look back and find that the media-political complex is the prime method of population control.

As Malcom X said, “you been misled. You been had. You been took.”

Removing gallbladder didn't end gallstones

DEAR DR. ROACH: My husband had his gallbladder removed many years ago. In the past few years, he has had six ERCPs to remove gallstones from his bile duct, as he is still making them. He has been told to drink lots of water but that there is no preventive remedy. Do you have any suggestions for how to prevent these gallstones from forming? – B.A.P.

Ordinarily, removing the gallbladder stops new gallstones from forming. Having a gallstone left after surgery is not uncommon, but it is very uncommon for people to make multiple new stones years after surgery.

One possibility is a diverticulum of the common bile duct. The common bile duct drains bile from the liver and gallbladder into the small intestine; it drains pancreatic fluid, too. A diverticulum is a blind pouch. It's possible for a stone to form there, so you should find out if he has one. They should have seen it on one of the ERCPs (a special endoscopy that looks at the bile and pancreatic ducts). If present, a diverticulum can be removed surgically.

I asked my colleague at Weill Cornell, Dr. Arun Jesudian, for his expertise, and he said he has seen multiple stones in the liver due to parasitic infections, often in Asian patients. That may require surgical treatment. He also discussed doing a sphincterotomy, which is a procedure to open the end of the common bile duct, to let stones pass through easily. Your husband may benefit from expanding it. Finally, there is a medication to reduce gallstones, ursodiol (Actigall), which Dr. Jesudian feels had no real downsides and might well help.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I'm a female, 53, who suffers from and is being treated for IBS. I have a history of colon cancer in my family. My family members and I go through regular screenings and so far, we've been clean. Once in a while, I wake up feeling a sharp, stabbing pain in my rectal area that lasts no more than 20-30 minutes before going away. These pains occur no more than once a month, sometimes every few months, but the pain often happens while I'm asleep and wakes me up. Luckily, there have been no bloody or black stools or urine following this, much to my relief. I've talked to my gastroenterologist about it, and he's as clueless as I am. I do exercise and watch what I eat. Could it be gas? At least the pain is short-lived, so it doesn't interfere with my daily activities or routine. – A.

Irritable bowel syndrome is a common problem, found more frequently in women, that ranges from annoying to life-changing. Although it does not predispose to cancer or reduce life expectancy, IBS can have dramatic effects on a person's social and work lives.

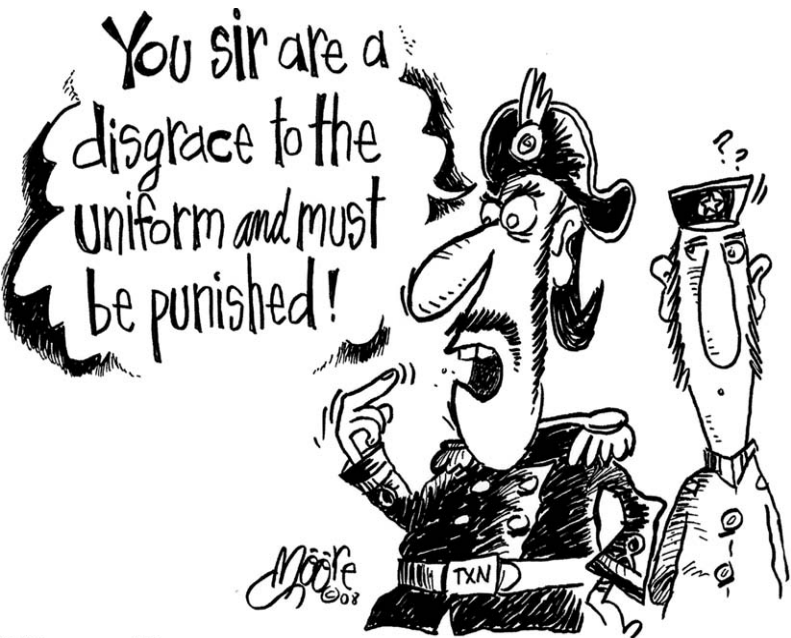

The hallmarks of IBS are bowel changes (diarrhea, constipation or sometimes both, alternating) and abdominal discomfort. The discomfort is usually described as cramping, but it is not unheard of to be described as sharp or stabbing. I believe a colonoscopy is appropriate to be sure IBS is not actually a different problem, such as inflammatory bowel disease. Black or bloody stools would be concerning for IBD not IBS.

Your symptoms are not typical for colon cancer, which often has no symptoms until it is quite advanced, making regular screening is so important.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. (c) 2020 North America Synd., Inc. All Rights Reserved.

Stolen medical equipment

by Freddy Groves

It’s hard to fathom how low some criminals will go. Right in the middle of the COVID crisis, a respiratory therapist working for the Department of Veterans Affairs was nabbed for theft. Hospitals were sweating out having enough space and equipment to take care of patients, and medical personnel were struggling to find enough protective gear for themselves. So what was this respiratory therapist doing? He was stealing ventilators and selling them on eBay.

He stole not only ventilators but bronchoscopes and other respiratory support equipment – just the medical stuff COVID patients need to keep breathing while their bodies heal. Among other things, he sold on eBay a whopping five ventilators in two months – March and April – right in the middle of the COVID chaos.

Staff at the VA hospital knew the items were missing, of course, and had reported each instance. They probably did a daily count of materials, worried about how they would cope with an influx of patients. Then someone thought to check sales of those medical items on eBay, and there they were.

The VA Office of Inspector General stepped in, as well as the U.S. attorney. The suspect initially denied involvement, of course. Criminals always do. He said someone else was using that seller name on eBay, that he hadn’t stolen anything, even though eBay listings and IP addresses traced back to his house.

Search warrant in hand, the authorities collected all manner of stolen medical equipment from the guy’s house, including CPAP machines and masks, ventilation tubes and more. EBay sales records were found, complete with serial numbers of the missing items. The U.S. Attorney’s Office spoke with buyers of some of the equipment.

But one piece of the evidence was damning. The final nail in the crook’s coffin was his own cellphone with photos of some of the items he stole.

Theft of government property can net a 10-year prison sentence. Hopefully, that 10 years will apply to each individual piece of equipment this criminal stole..

Unscramble these twelve letter strings to form each into an ordinary word (ex. HAGNEC becomes CHANGE). Prepare to use only ONE word from any marked (♥) letter string as each unscrambles into more than one word (ex. ♥RATHE becomes HATER or EARTH or HEART). Fit each string’s word either across or down to knot all twelve strings together.
