Wiwynn invests $1.6B in Socorro factory complex

EL PASO COUNTY – Expansion work is underway on a data center factory complex that began operations within the City of Socorro last year. When completed in 2028, the Taiwan-based Wiwynn corporation will have invested at least $1.6 billion, according to company officials.

Spurring the expansion is Wiwynn and Amazon’s commercial agreement, which promises to create thousands of jobs over the next several years. The companies, however, did not make details of the agreement public.

Amazon, which has a large fulfillment center near Wiwynn’s expansive factory complex and a large delivery center in El Paso County’s west side, is depending on the Socorro factory to supply critical parts used in its data centers. According to Amazon officials, Wiwynn will manufacture servers and other various components to power the services millions of people and businesses rely on every day.

Wiwynn officials said that the Socorro facility currently employs about 1,330 people. Their plans are to open a second factory and add another 1,100 employees to its payroll by 2027. Subsequently, company officials project acquiring a fourth factory building and increase its workforce to 4,000 individuals by 2028.

The complex’s construction investment is tied to $9.26 million in tax rebates and other incentives as part of the economic development agreements the company secured with El Paso County and City of Socorro officials. The investment, which was announced in 2025, includes not only construction

The Cornell 7 case revisited, re-spun

We’ve heard it from politicians, celebrities and influencers – the system failed the accuser in the Cornell 7 case. This near-universal view is advanced with great certainty and a sense of outraged righteousness, but mistaken nonetheless. Based on the information available to them at the time, the authorities handled the matter in keeping with the facts and the law.

This isn’t to defend anything that occurred during that debauched night at the Chi Phi fraternity, which was “Lord of the Flies” meets “Eyes Wide Shut.” Nor does it foreclose the possibility that Jane Doe was the victim of crimes. But the critics of the school and the district attorney who declined to prosecute the case fail to account for a central element of the case – a sworn statement by Jane Doe herself in November 2024 that appears to fail to allege any crime.

After getting slammed for his handling of the case, Tompkins County district attorney Matthew Van Houten publicly defended his office. He quoted extensively from Jane Doe’s statement. These excerpts do indeed describe her actions that night, in the words of the DA, as “voluntary, conscious and consensual.”

By her own account, she drank heavily before heading to the fraternity. She danced flirtatiously with a friend she was interested in, and then agreed to a threesome because of “how attracted” she was to him and “drunken curiousness.” This was before she ingested any drugs. The assignation stopped when her friend dropped out because of drowsiness, while the other male began to dry heave. She periodically checked on her sleeping friend, while “consoling” the other male. This was a squalid scene, but not one where she was unconscious or refusing.

Another male entered the room, and he began making out with her, with Jane Doe apparently lodging no objection. Her friend then woke up and made another lewd proposal that she declined. More males piled into the room. It was suggested she take “more ketamine,” and vaguely recalling

Hard work and generating passive income for retirement

Creating passive income is lingo that you probably have heard or thought about more than once. Generating an ongoing flow of cash that keeps coming is welcome by most of us. Seminars are often held by different entities explaining their technique for how to build a steady stream of income. All of us need money so it’s usually a topic of interest. Years ago, a friend influenced me to sign up for Amway. He was doing great things and lived well. I signed up. That lasted maybe a month or two. I didn’t make any money from it but I admit I gave up quickly. Later, I was influenced by another friend to sign up for a telephone pyramid scheme. Supposedly, people were making money. After about two months, I lost interest. On another occasion, I signed up to sell vitamins. On this occasion someone was reporting about how it helped people with multiple sclerosis. My wife was very sick from the disease and I was willing to buy or try anything that would help her. The vitamins did not help her and I gave up on the vitamin business.

The old adage that if it’s too good to be true then it probably is, is accurate most of the time. Occasionally someone wins the lottery and occasionally someone is struck by lightning.

When I was 18 years old, I was working for a little country church. My only deacon whose name was Harold Rice said, “Glenn, we are going to enroll you in the annuity program operated by the Annuity Board of our Southern Baptist Convention.” Today, it’s called Guidestone. “We are going to put six dollars a month into your account,” he said. That contribution probably occurred approximately 12 times. I moved on to college. About 13 or 14 years ago I remembered that and called to see if an account like that even existed. The account did and it had grown to $30,000. I was shocked. A year or so later I took the fund out and invested it into an index fund which at that time was Ameritrade and now Schwab. The account has grown to $90,000. Yes, I am talking about over 50 years of growth. The dividends were reinvested every year. The dividends from that little fund today are an ongoing passive income.

The best way for you to develop passive income is to work a job and put some money into an Individual Retirement Account every year. I like a Roth IRA best because once you have paid tax on it and invest it into the Roth then it will generate income that you never have to pay tax on again.

At age 25, if you will start putting $5,000 in a Roth IRA every year until you are 60 your fund could easily total ABOUT $1.2 million. At the young age of 60 that account could easily produce $12,000 or more of income for you. This is really passive income. Then, you can keep working or play golf every day.

Nothing is free and easy but you don’t have to make a huge sum of money to put $5,000 a year into a Roth IRA. You may have to skip eating out some or pass on a few vacations. You might have to drive an old car longer and avoid credit card purchases. Any sacrifice you make will be worth it later in life.

but also the cost of land, buildings, and equipment, stated company officials.

“Through our over $1.6 billion investment in the Texas facility, we are expanding our ability to address the growing demand of U.S. customers, reinforce the resilience of the global supply chain, and create high-value career opportunities as we continue to grow in partnership with the local community,” William Lin, Wiwynn chief executive officer, stated in a recent report.

Located in the Socorro Logistics Center industrial park, along Nuevo Hueco Tanks Boulevard, the Socorro factory expansion also is prompting Wiwynn to build a 120-megawatt, natural gas-fueled power plant near its current facility. It is designed to supplement power it presently gets from El Paso Electric (EPE). The new power plant won’t be tied to the utility’s power grid, according to EPE officials.

Wiwynn officials explained that the new power plant would replace the 13 portable natural gas generators that are now in use and located next to the present factory. The new, off-grid power plant, which will produce up to 20 megawatts of electricity, will be part of the company’s diversified power strategy to ensure that it can meet the demands of its rapidly growing data center customers, officials stated.

The Austin-based Atlas was hired to build and operate the proposed power plant facility, according to a recent news report. It will use 30 Caterpillar natural gas-fueled generators, costing $139.2 million, and will be housed inside a building designed to reduce outside noise.

The new power plant is expected to be in operation by January 2027. It will primarily use 27 natural-gas-powered generators to produce 100 megawatts of power. But it will have the capability to expand to 30 generators with a capacity of 120 megawatts, company officials reported.

In addition to the private power plant, Wiwynn has also entered into an agreement with EPE to build a $24 million substation in the industrial park area to increase

Minerva makes her case to be next County Judge

Editor:
My father taught me a lesson that has guided me throughout my life: If you see something wrong, don't just complain about it. Step forward and do something. That lesson took me through the United States Army, five years with the El Paso Police Department, and more than two decades with the FBI. Now, I want to continue using that lesson as your El Paso County Judge.

My leadership is defined by the following three words: Unbought. Uncompromising. Unafraid. Those aren't just campaign words. They reflect how I have lived my life, and they define the kind of leadership I believe El Paso County needs. The more I observe what is happening in our county government, the more I am convinced that change is sorely needed. My background demands leading by example. It means true public service – handling tax dollars appropriately and being accountable. In 2019 the El Paso County Judge pay was $105,000. Today it stands at $152,725. County Commissioners' pay has jumped from $93,748 to $133,467 in the same time. These pay packages rival the Texas Governor at $153,750 a year and residents did not get a vote on them – the Commissioners' Court did. If elected, I will present a resolution to reduce the County Judge's salary. If I am going to demand fiscal responsibility from county government, I must be willing to start with myself.

County government has grown too large and expensive, with essential services and programs, at times, taking a backseat. My approach is fiscal responsibility: Scrutinize spending, identify nonessential spending, prioritize essential services and infrastructure, use savings for economic growth and ask the tough questions before spending taxpayer money. My investigative background taught me to follow the facts, money, and have the courage to ask questions. Has anybody gone on record about why the Sheriff's Office reported a projected $5.9 million deficit?

That is not how I will lead. Citizens should have been given a vote before committing $1 million in county funding to the Downtown Deck Plaza. I oppose data centers in our county, and I oppose tax incentives for projects that lack detailed and contractual commitments to improve El Paso by placing additional burdens on the taxpayer. These are tax dollars and taxpayers should be able to vote to either approve or reject projects that have long-term fiscal implications.

My donors reflect what I value: The everyday people and taxpayers of El Paso County. My campaign is powered by regular El Pasoans that believe our community deserves a voice free from special interests. By contrast, other El Paso County candidates are receiving significant contributions from powerful developers, businesses, and well-connected leaders.

Unbought – my vote is not for sale, and neither is my loyalty. My loyalty belongs to the people.

Uncompromising – I will never compromise my integrity, principles, or commitment to doing what is right. I will work with Republicans, Democrats, and Independents, but I will not trade integrity for political convenience.

Unafraid – I will ask the questions others may not want asked. I spent my career investigating, following evidence, and making difficult decisions, and I am not afraid to challenge the status quo.

This election presents two very different choices. I am running because taxpayers deserve someone willing to question spending, follow the money, demand accountability, and remember who government is supposed to benefit: The people.

I am Unbought. Uncompromising. Unafraid. Please vote this election cycle. Early voting is October 19-30 and November 3 is Election Day.

El Paso County, Texas

Candidate for El Paso County Judge

The West Texas County Courier did extend an invitation to Ricardo Samaniego to make his case for retaining his position as County Judge of El Paso County for a third term.

Because El Paso County is a major, highly populated metropolitan area with over 860,000 residents, the Texas Legislature completely stripped judicial cases (trials) away from the County Judge position. In El Paso County, the County Judge acts strictly as the administrative chief executive and head of the Commissioners Court (similar to a city mayor), managing tax rates, county infrastructure, budgets, and emergency declarations.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

- On Oct. 12, 1990, South Dakota became the first state to rename Columbus Day “Native American Day,” in honor of the initial inhabitants of the Americas. Two years later, the city of Berkeley, California, would be the first to call it “Indigenous Peoples’ Day.”
- On Oct. 13, 1925, groundbreaking stand-up comedian Lenny Bruce, whose freewheeling and profanity-laced routines on taboo topics notably attacked societal conventions and occasionally resulted in arrests, was born in Mineola, New York.
- On Oct. 14, 1892, “The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes” by Arthur Conan Doyle was published. The book was the first collection of Holmes stories, which had been published in magazines since 1887. Its titular detective was partly inspired by Dr. Joseph Bell, whom Conan Doyle had met at the University of Edinburgh when he studied medicine there.
- On Oct. 15, 2024, researchers announced seven new species of tree frogs in Madagascar whose high-pitched whistling calls were reminiscent of sound effects from the sci-fi series “Star Trek,” prompting the monikers Kirk, Picard, Sisko, Janeway, Archer, Burnham and Pike.
- On Oct. 16, 1906, German shoemaker Wilhelm Voight, who already had a long criminal record, embarrassed the German army by impersonating an officer and leading an entire squad of soldiers to the town of Kopenik, where they helped him steal 4,000 marks from the mayor’s office.
- On Oct. 17, 1974, President Gerald Ford explained to Congress that he had chosen to pardon Richard Nixon, rather than allow Congress to pursue legal action against him, claiming that a long, drawn-out trial would have further polarized the public – a decision that was condemned by many and may have helped cost Ford a victory in the presidential election of 1976.
- On Oct. 18, 1963, Félicette, a Parisian stray cat, had the honor of becoming the first (and to date the only) cat to visit outer space. The black-and-white feline’s journey lasted 98 miles and a grand total of 13 minutes before her capsule safely parachuted back to Earth.

utility power availability for Wiwynn’s growing operations. The substation is expected to be completed by the end of 2027.

“Wiwynn represents another significant milestone in El Paso County’s commitment to building a stronger, more resilient economy,” County Judge Ricardo Samaniego stated when the plans were first announced. “This investment demonstrates that global companies recognize the value of our workforce, our strategic location, and our collaborative approach to economic development,” he added.

Correction

In its October 1, 2026 issue the West Texas County Courier ran a front page story about the Canutillo Independent School District’s (CISD) upcoming school board election. Sergio Martinez is running for one of the three four-year term seats currently on the November 3 election ballot. The story incorrectly stated that Martinez was giving up his appointed seat. However, the school board only appointed Martinez to a two-year term after Blanca Trout resigned. Martinez completed the term he was appointed to and is now seeking a seat with a four-year term on the CISD board of Trustees. The Courier and its Publisher regret the error.

NFL loses one of its greatest ever: Mike Ditka

By Steve Escajeda
Special to the Courier

There are many sports figures who dominated their era by accomplishing more than anyone else during their time.

Athletes or coaches who won several titles or awards on their way to superstardom while earning the respect of their fans and their hated rivals.

Athletes like Mark McGuire and Ricky Henderson and Giannis Antetokounmpo and Dan Marino and Jerry West and Oscar De La Hoya, and hundreds of others have all had the spotlight shine in the faces for a while.

But there are some sports personalities who are even bigger than that. Sports figures who don’t just rule over their playing careers but live on forever as legends.

There are just a few of these people who had “Larger Than Life” personalities who were among the best who ever played the game and were great leaders.

Some of these megastars include Muhammad Ali and Michael Jordan and Babe Ruth and Wayne Gretzke and Serena Williams and Vince Lombardi and Bo Jackson and heck, even Secretariat if we’re counting animals.

This group (and many more) stand a little higher than all the others because of something special they carry within them, something in their personality, their soul, their ego, their work ethic, their confidence, their passion.

Another member of this rare group was both a great player and a great coach.

We all got the sad news about the passing of the great Mike Ditka at 86 last week.

Ditka started as a tight end with the Chicago Bears before ending his career with the Dallas Cowboys.

He was already a star when he joined the Cowboys late in his career but was good enough to catch a touchdown pass in Super Bowl VI, when Dallas knocked off the Miami Dolphins 24-3, winning their first NFL title.

Catching that touchdown and winning the Super Bowl, also happened to occur in the final game of his playing career.

That made him the only man in history to score a touchdown in a Super Bowl and coach a team to a Super Bowl victory.

Ditka was a fiery player and an even fiery coach often yelling at his players or at the officials or at a journalist at the post-game press conference. It was his raw passion that made him an icon.

Ditka coached one of the best teams in NFL history – the 1985 Bears, who crushed the Patriots in the Super Bowl 46-10.

But that was 41 years ago.

How famous are you that over 40 years later you still see fans dressed like him at Chicago Bears games today, wearing the black Bears sweater and big fake mustache, sunglasses while chewing a big wad of gum.

Heck, for those who are old enough to remember, a whole Saturday Night Live skit devoted to “Da Bears” and “A certain coach Ditka,” ran for years and you still see references of it today in commercials or fans mimicking it.

His 1985 Chicago Bears team was so famous that they put out a dance video called “The Super Bowl Shuffle,” that became an instant hit and went viral before “going viral” was even a thing.

Ditka, who started his coaching career as an assistant with Dallas under the legendary Tom Landry, went on to become a successful TV football analyst.

Just like Charles Barkley today, Ditka said what he believed and if you didn’t like it – tough. That’s one of the reasons they called him “Iron Mike” Ditka.

I remember watching him play when I was a little kid and I knew back then that he was a tough guy. He was a real tough guy who stood out even when he was surrounded by a bunch of tough guys.

Naturally, Mike Ditka is in the NFL Pro Football Hall of Fame, but he’s also in the College Football Hall of Fame (played at Pitt).

People die every day; it just goes along with life. But there are certain people who get a jolting reaction when news hits about their death.

Every person I spoke to about Ditka’s death had a strong reaction about losing such an ambassador for the sport.

So, let’s all raise our beers and share a toast to Mike Ditka and ... “Da Bearsss.”

Speeding up walking

Is it 10,000 steps per day we need to walk? Or is it 6,000 to 8,000? Or can we get by with only 3,000 to 4,000 steps each day?

The answer, apparently, is that it depends on who is giving us those numbers.

That 10,000 number started as an advertising ploy. Back in 1965 a Japanese company created a pedometer (step counter), and the name of it was similar to the 10,000 number in Japanese. It caught on from there as a goal to strive for, without much (or anything) in the way of actual research behind it.

We’ve been faced with everybody throwing out a number they claim is the optimum one for us to lower our risk of heart disease and risk of death – leaving us confused about our best number.

Now, however, there might be something much simpler: Instead of counting steps, a new study has shown that increasing our walking speed might be just as good as walking many thousands of steps each day at a slower speed.

Specifically, what they discovered is that walking fewer than 5,000 fast steps every day could be as good as walking 5,000-7,500 slower steps when it comes to lowering our risk of death.

And how fast is fast? According to the study in the British Journal of Sports Medicine, aiming for 80 steps per minute for fewer than 5,000 steps is as good as 60 steps per minute for over 5,000 steps.

The study had tens of thousands of participants with their information pulled from the UK Biobank, a worldwide database with the information on a half million volunteers, so this was a significant study.

To quote one of the study reviewers, “The biggest health gains often come from going from no activity to some activity. Even a few minutes of movement a day can start to improve your overall health and longevity.”

she had already snorted some at some point, she figured “why not do it a second time.”

When the guys, who behaved abysmally, asked if they could snort the drug off her body, she said, “Sure.”

Finally, another young man entered the room and said he was shutting down “whatever the [expletive] this is.”

Still, her so-called friend persisted and took her to another room with another male to begin having group sex again. She said she was tired and plaintively asked her friend, “What happened to just you and me?” But she apparently didn’t say “no.” Finally, around 5:45 a.m., she said she “was tired and needed to turn in.”

This isn’t a hostile version of events concocted by a defense attorney – it’s what she attested to weeks after the night of Oct. 19. The DA didn’t disbelieve her, or decide he couldn’t prove her allegations; he correctly determined that she described no actual crime.

It’s not the job of a DA, obviously, to get an alleged victim to change her story after she’s sworn to it in writing, or to make prosecutions based on vibes.

For its part, Cornell didn’t sweep the matter under the rug. The school carried out 50 interviews involving 32 witnesses. It expelled two of the students; suspended two others; banned from campus one who had already graduated; and allowed two others to remain, provided that they completed various trainings, including writing “reflective essays” (this is the source of the erroneous idea that essay-writing was the only consequence for the young men).

Both the DA and Cornell did their job. It’s not that the system failed Jane Doe but, rather, that she changed her version of events two years after the fact in a civil lawsuit against the men and the university, among others.

The risk now is that the system, with New York Attorney General Letitia James leading a politicized investigation, will be perverted to produce a predetermined outcome.

Understanding parts of a balanced diet

DEAR DR. ROACH: I’m a 77-year-old man who’s prediabetic. I was told by a longtime diabetic that sugar (candy, soda, cake, etc.) doesn’t need to be avoided – just carbohydrates such as pasta, potatoes, etc. I was surprised to hear this. Is it really true? – Anon.

We often use terms like carbohydrates, starches and sugars imprecisely. Strictly speaking, sugars are small molecules (usually 5 or 6 carbon molecules long), like glucose or fructose, which are called monosaccharides. These can also be combined into a single molecule (a disaccharide), which – in the case of glucose plus fructose – is called sucrose (table sugar).

Long strands of sugars that are strung together are called polysaccharides. Starches are very long strands of glucose molecules, with anywhere from hundreds to tens of thousands of them in strings and branches. White rice and processed wheat flour (the primary ingredient in most pastas and many white breads) are largely comprised of starch.

Starch begins turning back into sugar before you even swallow it. An enzyme in saliva (amylase) breaks down the starch structure. White bread that’s made from highly refined flour turns into sugar so rapidly that your blood sugar goes up nearly as fast from bread as it would from eating the same amount of sugar.

Starch and sugars are both carbohydrates, as is fiber, but fiber is indigestible to us. Fiber acts to slow down absorption, reducing the “spike” in blood sugar that occurs with refined starch. However, most foods that we eat are combinations of two or three macronutrients (the sources of calories), which are carbohydrates, proteins and fats.

Protein and fat both slow down the absorption of carbohydrates, similarly to fiber. Whole wheat flour contains fiber and protein, which is why it is preferred to processed white flour and doesn’t spike the blood sugar as quickly or as high. Most vegetables have lots of fiber, so even though they’re mostly carbohydrates (with a little protein), they aren’t treated by your body in the same way that starchy foods are.

Partially because of the slower absorption, people tend to feel more full with fewer calories when protein, fat and fiber are included. Even so, proportions matter. A diet of 80% rice, 10% protein and 10% fat isn’t going to be optimal for any person, especially one with diabetes.

People with diabetes don’t need to completely avoid starches or even simple sugars. They’re an important part of the diet, and as long as they form a modest proportion of a person’s food intake and are consumed as part of a mixed meal, people shouldn’t feel bad about eating them.

Many of my patients with diabetes use a continuous glucose monitor (CGM). By keeping track of what you eat, CGMs can give you immediate feedback on how food affects your blood sugar. Talk to your doctor about whether a CGM is right for you. People on insulin, people who have low blood sugar (especially if they don’t notice it), and people who are changing their diet and exercise patterns are among those who might benefit from a CGM.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. ©2026 North America Synd., Inc. All Rights Reserved.

If a voter is physically unable to enter the polling place without assistance or likelihood of injury to his or her health, an election worker may bring a voting unit during Early Voting or on Election Day to their car at the entrance or curb of the voting location on the voter's request (Texas Election Code, Section 64.009(a)). All curbside voters will be allowed the same privacy as a voter at the voting booth.

• Two election workers may assist the voter (Texas Election Code, Section 64.032(a)) or;

• The voter may be given assistance by a person of the voter's choice, other than the voter's employer, or agent of that employer, or officer or agent of a labor union to which the voter belongs (Texas Election

Every polling place during the Early Voting period or on Election Day will designate a space for curbside voting. Curbside Voting
If a voter is physically unable to enter the polling place without assistance or likelihood of injury to his or her health, an election worker may bring a voting unit during Early Voting or on Election Day to their car at the entrance or curb of the voting location on the voter’s request (Texas Election Code, Section 64.009(a)). All curbside voters will be allowed the same privacy as a voter at the voting booth.

If the voter is not only physically unable to enter the polling place, but is also eligible for voter assistance in marking his/her ballot:

- Two election workers may assist the voter (Texas Election Code, Section 64.032(a)) or;
- The voter may be given assistance by a person of the voter’s choice, other than the voter’s employer, or agent of that employer, or officer or agent of a labor union to which the voter belongs (Texas Election Code, Section 64.032(c); 52 U.S.C. § 10508).

Every polling place during the Early Voting period or on Election Day will designate a space for curbside voting. If you are a voter requesting curbside voting, you may call or text to request assistance. The phone number will be displayed in an A-Frame sign that will be placed at the designated spot. We ask that you park in front of the sign for assistance.

For more information please contact our office at (915) 273-3597.

Votación en la Acera
Si un votante no puede físicamente ingresar al lugar de votación sin asistencia o existe la posibilidad de que su salud sufra daños, un trabajador electoral puede llevar una unidad de votación durante la votación adelantada o el día de las elecciones a su automóvil en la entrada o acera del lugar de votación a solicitud del votante (Código Electoral de Texas, Sección 64.009(a)). A todos los votantes en la acera se les permitirá la misma privacidad que a un votante en las urnas.

Si el votante no sólo no puede físicamente ingresar al lugar de votación, sino que también es elegible para recibir asistencia para marcar su boleta:

- Dostrabajadores electorales pueden ayudar al votante (Código Electoral de Texas, Sección 64.032(a)) o;
- El votante puede recibir asistencia de una persona de su elección, que no sea el empleador del votante, o un agente de ese empleador, o un funcionario o agente de un sindicato al que pertenezca el votante (Código Electoral de Texas, Sección 64.032(c); 52 U.S.C. § 10508).

Cada lugar de votación durante el periodo de votación adelantada o el día de las elecciones designará un espacio para la votación en la acera. Si usted es un votante que solicita la votación en la acera, puede llamar o enviar un mensaje de texto para solicitar ayuda. El número de teléfono se mostrará en un letrero que se colocará en el lugar designado. Le pedimos que se estacione frente al letrero para obtener ayuda.

Grants to address veteran homelessness

by Freddy Groves

Beginning Oct. 1, the VA will give away $1.17 billion in grants to address the problem of veteran homelessness.

Of that amount, $855 million will go to organizations that work with the VA’s Supportive Services for Veteran Families in the form of one-year grants. The SSVF works with low income veterans and veteran families who are either homeless or who are at risk for it. Their goal is to get veterans back into housing quickly and to prevent homelessness in the first place, working to provide permanent housing.

Of the $1.7 billion, $318 million will go to organizations through the Grant and Per Diem program via three-year grants. This program works to provide services and case management to help veterans stay in their current housing or to provide more appropriate housing for veterans who are elderly, frail, terminally ill or who have minor dependents.

The VA’s Housing First philosophy, started in 2012, shifted away from the prior “treatment first” models that had kept too many veterans out of permanent housing. It had required sobriety first, or treatment first, or income first. Now, with the Housing First philosophy, homeless or at-risk veterans can determine for themselves which services they initially want, which lowers the barrier to getting them into actual housing and provides needed stability. Then other services can be offered – healthcare, education, employment, legal – to help maintain that permanent housing.

If you are a veteran who is either homeless or who is in danger of becoming homeless, call the National Call Center for Homeless Veterans at 877-424-3838. They’re open 24/7. Or you can go online to www.va.gov/homeless/nationalcallcenter.asp and start a chat there. Everything is confidential, but they will need to ask you a few questions to know which services you qualify for and how best to help you.

If you’re facing eviction, don’t wait, especially if you have a family. Connect with the call center as soon as you know so they can help.

• Here’s a tip for you waist-watchers out there: Wait until Halloween Day to buy the candy. The in-house sweets won’t be haunting you throughout October.

• Update window treatments to compensate for dropping temperatures. Trade your sheers for sturdy, draft-blocking panels.

• Now’s the time to install weather-stripping or caulk for the fall and the winter. To find drafts, try this trick. Light a taper candle and run it very slowly along the cracks of your windows. When you see the flame flicker, that’s where you have a draft leak.

• Keep cut veggies crunchy by lining a plastic or glass storage dish with coffee filters and then adding your cut vegetables, like carrot sticks and celery.

• Want to save money and be a good environmental servant? Get with the times – the old times, that is. Buy secondhand items and have household items repaired instead of throwing them out. Good-quality clothes can be sold or donated to charity shops; furniture and household items can be sold or donated to charity as well, or repurposed into new rooms.

• “To keep sauces from splattering and dirtying the inside of your microwave, cover the food with a damp paper towel or a coffee filter.” – E.C. in Utah

• Now you can have your tea and clean something too. Teabags can be used to clean woodwork. Rub wood softly with a damp bag.

Unscramble these twelve letter strings to form each into an ordinary word (ex. HAGNEC becomes CHANGE). Prepare to use only ONE word from any marked (♥) letter string as each unscrambles into more than one word (ex. ♥RATHE becomes HATER or EARTH or HEART). Fit each string’s word either across or down to knot all twelve strings together.
